

Revenue and Distribution Management Training Course

facilitated by Shannon Knapp, SKNapp Consulting

Regardless of the type of hotel or the number of rooms that a given property has, an effective hotel revenue management strategy is necessary to achieve success.

Course Content

This one-day workshop will provide you with:

- The definition of fundamental Revenue and Distribution Management, how it applies in any business where profit is a goal
- Practical applications of Revenue Management in the accommodation industry, how it applies in your type of property
- An explanation of all those critical Revenue Management acronyms; RevPAR, GOPPAR, NOPPAR, TRevPAR and the rest! How do we calculate them and why are they important?
- By optimising the right channel of distribution and focus business to more cost-efficient and/or highest producing channels, Accommodation Managers can maximise their property's profitability. We'll show you how!
- Recommendations on how to measure your RM success
- An opportunity to network and collaborate with your industry peers

This practical and interactive training course will help you understand the role of Revenue Management and identify the most effective ways to increase hotel revenue while also remaining competitive.
